Italian Cinema presents an overview and analysis of one of the most prolific and influential of national cinemas.Italian film has always drawn on a wide range of popular themes - from ancient history to the mafia, the family, the Risorgimento, terrorism, corruption and immigration - and on an equally diverse range of film genres - from comedy to westerns, horror, soft-porn, epics and thrillers. As well as illuminating the work of classic directors such as Visconti, Fellini, Rossellini, Antonioni and Rosi, the book explores the interaction between art and popular cinema, visual style and spectacle, space and architecture, gender representations and politics.

Alexander is autistic. When he is nine years old he is found dead in a bath of water. The only other person in the house at the time is his mother Ingrid. The circumstances arouse suspicion and the police take Ingrid into custody. Did she murder her child? And who could blame her if she did? She has had nine years of hell with her uncontrollable child, all those she cares about have deserted her, and not even the church has come to her assistance. Her efforts to find help for Alexander have left her bankrupt and she is emotionally and physically depleted. If it were not for Miriam and Gunter, she would surely never have endured the nine years... In this haunting novel Annelie Botes exposes the tragedy of autism and its devastating effect on families. Searingly honest, it brings home the inescapable truth that society can be cruelly indifferent to whatever it perceives to be aberrant.

For different reasons three main characters venture to an isolated town at the northern tip of Vancouver Island, off the coast of British Columbia. Ian is trying to get as far away from Newfoundland as he can, Magda has fallen in love with the magnificence of Nature, and Francis is simply visiting his Aunt. Becoming friends they throw a concert for the town, but end up being "detained" as possible terrorists in the advent of the 2010 Winter Olympics, through events precipitated by a twelve page book (Book 67 - The Original) written by Francis that threatens the world's systems and hierarchy. An adventure story laced with humour and romance, Book 67 exposes the madness of the current "war on terror" and leads one gently to a believable apocalypse.

In this well informed, insightful and comprehensive study, Mario Fernando critically explores the complex and multiform interplay of management theory and practice, personal biographies, theologies of faith and cultural dynamics in order to elaborate and advance a coherent theory of spiritual leadership. George Gotsis and Zoe Kortezi, Entrepreneurship and Innovation In this example of science and theory meeting emerging reality, Mario Fernando delves into the complex dimensions of the interplay of the science of management, theologies of faith, and the dynamics of culture to first understand and then construct and advance a theory of spiritual leadership. With real world insights and reflections from himself and others, he addresses theory to practice implications and cautions against creating just another fad. This insightful and thought-provoking book provides a timely read and focus for reflection for organizational leaders concerned with success in the new age economy and global society, and who seek a path to understand their own personal and pragmatic spiritual leadership grounding. Gary D. Geroy, Colorado State University, US The book will be an important contribution to the literature and will certainly open up some new avenues of research and inquiry. Ralph L. Piedmont, Loyola College in Maryland, US Although interest in workplace spirituality continues to soar, the literature and empirical research on non-Western, non-Christian spirituality in entrepreneurship and leadership is almost non-existent. Mario Fernando s unique study fills the gap in the literature, exploring cross-cultural and religious distinctions of the contemporary meaning and enactment of spirituality in organizations. Case studies of thirteen influential, spiritually motivated Buddhist, Hindu, Christian and Muslim entrepreneurs are used to explore the significant impact of religion upon the management and leadership of an organization. The book concludes that although each entrepreneur s outward practice of spiritual leadership conformed to personal religious beliefs, these practices had two common aims: a connection with self, others and/or an ultimate reality, and a need to direct and motivate self and/or others to develop an organizational culture founded on a sense of shared community. This unique and fascinating work will strongly appeal to entrepreneurship, leadership and business and management researchers and scholars with a particular interest in the interplay between entrepreneurship and spiritual leadership.

What was it like to have a private lesson or be part of a masterclass with world-famous violinist Henryk Szeryng? In "The Art of Violin", the reader is transported back in time to a course written and taught by Szeryng in July of 1959 at the International Academy of Music in Nice. Szeryng shared basic steps in the art of violin, as well as a discussion on the principle faults of all violinists and how to correct them. The course included his carefully drawn out musical examples from Bach, Brahms, Kreisler and Mendelssohn to illustrate his technique, giving the reader application of the concepts he taught. Translated from the original French to English, this book is especially careful to convey Szeryng's original intent and meaning in language and format. The book also includes printed examples of the musical excerpts mentioned for easier recognition by the reader, as well as photographs of the original document in French for closer examination. Every violinist, from beginner to seasoned professional, will benefit from the application of the ideas discussed and find greater mastery of their instrument in Henryk Szeryng's course, "The Art of Violin".
